Dear Families,

This week scholars peer edited their books and started publishing. During English language arts, scholars are continuing their character study. In math, scholars continued to learn different multiplication strategies and why they only “add a zero” when multiplying by 10. In English UOI, scholars went on their trips to visit their organism from their climate zones from Spanish writing. In French Language Arts, students work on the play "L'Arbre Ungali". The class being organized in three centers, students break into groups to learn the play (text, performance), work on understanding the play (characters, events, vocabulary...) and play games around French language (contractions, near future). In French UOI scholars continued to observe mystery organism!

Have a great weekend,
The 3rd Grade Team
