Important Dates

- November 11: No school

English Language Arts

In reading, readers will start reading their non-fiction books among different centers.

In phonics we will review the blends, digraphs and vowels in the high frequency words, especially the different sounds for the vowel O.

French Language Arts

We are heading towards our last weeks of writing! We have reached several milestones and kids are impatient to share their work! We will continue our assessment while rotating during different centers.

Units of Inquiry

Indigenous Cultures- The cultures today are connected to the cultures that have come before.

We will continue learning about the Mayas, Incas and Aztecs.

We will begin comparing the cultures that we learned about and start making up our unit project.

Math

This week in Math, students will continue their exploration of shapes. We will discuss the defining attributes of different shapes and learn how to categorize different quadrilaterals and triangles.
